

CTC Source Protection Committee Members Biography

Mark Schiller

Municipal

Mark Schiller has 28 years' experience in the water and wastewater industry, 25 of which have been gained at the Region of Peel, where he is the director of the Water Division and past director of Water and Wastewater Treatment. He has extensive experience in surface water and groundwater supplies and risk mitigation.

Active involvement in several provincial and federal committees related to developing new regulations and wastewater guidelines for Canada has ensured Mr. Schiller is at the forefront of best practices and regulatory change. He established and chaired the Lake Ontario Water Works Research Consortium, is past chair of the OMBI Water and Wastewater Expert Panel, and currently chairs the Collaborative for Technical Studies, Lake Ontario Source Water Protection.